Gainesville, Ga. – Gold Creek Foods (GCF) is pleased to announce that they have consummated an agreement to acquire the assets of Caryville, Tenn.- based Campos Foods LLC including the popular Quick’N Eat brand. Under the agreement, all assets of the Tennessee food processing facility are now part of the Gold Creek Foods organization.

“Gold Creek Foods’ goal is to retain as many of Campos Foods’ hardworking employees as possible,” said Mark Sosebee, CEO of Gold Creek Foods. “Our team has been proactive about hiring, and to date 98% of the Campos Foods previous team members have committed to continue working with us here in Caryville. We are thankful for their dedication.”

Gold Creek Foods representatives said they have been impressed with the eastern Tennessee workforce on their frequent visits and the recognition and acceptance of the Quick’N Eat brand in the market.

Gold Creek Foods is already making new investments in modernizing and updating equipment at the facility, as well as integrating new technology. Such moves will enhance safety measures, increase efficiency, and allow for an improved environment for our team in the Caryville plant.

“Because of our already existing long-term relationship with Campos Foods and its parent company, George’s, Inc., we knew what a well-run business they are and felt confident that this would be a fantastic opportunity for all involved,” Sosebee said.
