RE: Bone-In Chicken Processing

Gold Creek would like to take this opportunity to provide information regarding the processing of our bone-in Chicken Parts.

When USDA procures chicken for the purpose of diversion to manufacturers, their specifications require a size range for the whole bird. Whole Bird size ranges for Bulk Large Chicken 100103 is 3.75 pounds and up.

Manufacturers (Processors) then either debone the chicken to produce formed products or other portion-controlled items like chunks and fillets or cut up the chicken for bone-in products.

It is very difficult to state exactly what the number of servings per case will be when processing bone-in chicken. This difficulty arises from the fact that no two birds weigh the same. USDA specifications state a broad range – 3.75 and up. Because of this variation in whole bird weights, the weights of the individual pieces can and will vary. The heavier the bird, the bigger the component parts will be and fewer pieces will be in a case. Conversely, the lighter the bird, the smaller the component parts will be, and more pieces will be in a case. This is industry wide and not unique to Gold Creek.

Because of the variation in sizes used, Gold Creek cannot guarantee the number of servings per case in our Bone-In Breaded Thighs and Drums (Item 791880) or in our Bone-In Roasted Thighs and Drums (Item 791890).

Item Code 791880 Breaded Bone-In Thighs and Drums: Our fact sheets show an approximate 112 servings per case.

This is a target and not a guarantee. Thigh piece weights will range between 2.46 to 10.15 ounces. Drum piece weights will range between 2.85 to 7.36 ounces. If all pieces in the case weighed 2.46 ounces, the total servings would be 208; If all pieces in the case weighed 10.15 ounces, the total servings would be 50. Our target piece count is 112.

Item Code 791890 Roasted Bone-In Thighs and Drums: Our fact sheets show an approximate 138 servings per case.

This is a target and not a guarantee. Thigh piece weights will range between 2.25 to 4.5 ounces. Drum piece weights will range between 2.5 to 4.25 ounces. If all pieces in the case weighed 2.25 ounces, you would get 227 servings; If all pieces in the case weighed 4.5 ounces, you would get 113 servings. Our target piece count is 138.
